

Fra Angelico to Leonardo: Italian Renaissance drawings

The British Museum

This exhibition showcased a selection of 100 Italian drawings from two world-class collections, the Uffizi and the British Museum.

2 large-scale projections and 2 small screen presentations were positioned in close proximity to selected drawings so comparisons could be made.

They provided an additional way to experience and understand the drawings by exploring the processes involved and show the paintings that were produced from the drawings in their locations in Italy.
